Jian Hu is currently Managing Director and Head of New Ratings for US Corporate Asset Securitization that includes CLOs, Commercial and Esoteric ABS, and other structured credit products at Moody's Investors Service. From September 2008 to September 2016, he was Global Head of CLOs and Structured Credit Surveillance. He is also Moody's global structured finance research coordinator. In addition, Jian is involved in various global research and outreach activities related to China.

Prior to September 2008, Jian was a Senior Vice President responsible for CLOs and Structured Credit research at Moody's. From 2002 to 2007, he was Director of Global Structured Finance Default Research, where he led a research team that analyzed structured finance securities' credit performance and published the findings regularly as Moody's Special Comments as well as articles in the Journal of Fixed Income.

Prior to joining Moody's in 2002, Jian was a senior financial economist in the credit finance department of Fannie Mae in Washington, DC, where he was the lead researcher on mortgage portfolio credit risk analytics. Jian previously also conducted academic research on the relationship between job market conditions and capital markets, and the research results were published in the Journal of Finance.

Jian holds a Ph.D. in Finance from the University of Minnesota's Carlson School of Management in Minneapolis, and a Bachelor's degree from Tsinghua University's School of Economics and Management in Beijing.
