WASHINGTON – The leading trade group for the securitization industry, the Structured Finance Association (SFA), today announced new dates for its annual conference in Las Vegas, Nevada. Previously scheduled to take place February 28-March 3, 2021, the industry-focused event featuring best-in-class speakers will now be held May 2-5, 2021 at the Aria Resort & Casino.

“We are pleased to announce these new dates for our annual conference in Las Vegas,” said Michael Bright, CEO of the Structured Finance Association. “SFVegas 2020 was a huge success, with more than 8,200 of our industry’s leaders gathering for important conversations about how we can best grow the real economy and improve the lives of individuals, families, businesses, and communities across the nation. While much uncertainty remains about how life will look next year, we are hard at work preparing for a great event so we can assess what has transpired and continue discussions about how to move our industry forward.”

“We know our attendees and sponsors have become accustomed to our event being held in late February of each year, and we certainly plan to move back to that timeframe in the future,” added Bright. “However, out of an abundance of caution and with the safety of our members, attendees, and staff in mind, we felt it best to adjust the dates of SFVegas 2021 to help ensure a successful event. As always, we will be proactive in taking steps to ensure the health and safety of our members, and as the new dates approach, we will continue to consult with public health officials. We are grateful for the support of our sponsors, board, and member institutions and look forward to seeing everyone in Las Vegas in person next year.”
