

Mark Adelson is an independent consultant and the content director at Portfolio Management Research (f/k/a Institutional Investor Journals). He was previously the editor of The Journal of Structured Finance from November 2015 to June 2023. He was chief strategy officer of The BondFactor Company from November 2012 to April 2016. Adelson served as S&P's chief credit officer from May 2008 until December 2011 and then held a research position at the company through August 2012. As S&P's chief credit officer he supervised the overhaul of the company's rating criteria in the wake of the financial crisis. He previously held positions at Nomura Securities, Moody's, and the law firm of Thacher Proffitt & Wood. He has authored numerous articles and reports covering a wide range of fixed-income subjects including credit analysis, models and model risk, regulatory and accounting topics, and detailed coverage of the major securitization industry conferences over the past 20+ years. Adelson is also a lawyer, admitted to practice in New York, and is a member of the structured finance committee of the New York City Bar Association.